

The Herald and News.

S. H. AULIE, Editor.

Hon. A. C. Latimer will deliver an address before the Good Roads Convention on that meets at Charlottesville, Va., today.

We have heard nothing recently about that hose wagon which has been ordered for some time. What is the trouble? We will never need it any worse than at present.

This is educational week at the Charleston Exposition and the students are taking in the city. The Wofford and Newberry boys, the Columbia girls, the Winthrop College girls, and the V. P. I's, have all been there the greater part of the week.

The investigation, instituted at the suggestion and demand of Mr. Richardson, upon the matter of the alleged corrupt use of $500,000 in connection with the purchase of the Danish West Indies by the United States government, will probably amount to nothing. Even if there is any truth in the charge, it will hardly be brought to light.

In this State during the past few weeks several negroes have been legally tried for that crime which heretofore has almost invariably preceded a lynching, and duly convicted and sentenced. As the people become more and more convinced that swift justice will be meted out by the courts, the fewer lynchings we will have. The only way to stop the crime of lynching in the South is a prompt trial, and if the party is guilty, a swift execution.

James K. Jones, chairman of the National Democratic committee, has been defeated in the primary for the United States senate in his own State of Arkansas, and the general opinion seems to be that, while he may not retire from the chairmanship of the democratic committee just at present, yet he will likely go before the next campaign. Mr. Jones was one of the best known democrats in the Senate, and no doubt wielded some strong influence among his associates. It is not thought, however, that his retirement will have any appreciable effect on national issues.

President Roosevelt and party will leave Washington on their trip to Charleston on the morning of April 7th, arriving in Charleston next day. Wednesday and Thursday will be spent in Charleston.

The following persons will compose the party which will accompany the President:

Mrs. Roosevelt, Miss Carey, Mr. J. K. Grace, Secretary Root, Attorney General Knox, Miss Knox, Secretary Loch, Mr. Loch, Dr. John F. Wise, Commander W. S. Cowles, Col. L. S. Brown, general agent Southern Railway, Mr. Charles Cottrell, Associated Press, and a number of leading newspaper correspondents from Washington.

For more than two years past the State of Delaware has been entirely without representation in the United States Senate. No other State of the Union was ever in such a condition before.—Athens Journal.

That is only very little worse than the predicament in which South Carolina finds herself just at present. She has two representatives there, and though they have not failed to make their presence known within the past few months, sometimes in not a very dignified manner, when there is any important question up for consideration, they invariably vote on different sides. Yet they are representing, and were elected by, one and the same party.

No, Delaware's position is very little worse than South Carolina's. In fact it has not been long since at least some of our people were heartily wishing that she were in exactly the same position, when they thought their State would be more respected without representation than with representation of the kind she had.

"THE LEOPARD'S SPOTS"

We have just received the book by this name by Rev. Thomas Dixon, Jr. It is a thrilling story of the reconstruction period in North Carolina, where the scenes are laid. North Carolina, unlike South Carolina, has had two reconstruction periods and has had to throw off the yoke of black bondage on two occasions. North Carolina had negro, scalawag and carpet-bag rule just after the war and after throwing off the incubus had the battle over again in 1900 because of an alliance with Republicans and Populists. The second fight for Anglo-Saxon supremacy was as bitter and hard fought as the first if not a harder battle, for the reason that the Republicans had with them many native born whites. The story of these periods is graphically told in this book and so interesting is it that when you take up the book you can scarcely lay it down until you have finished it.

In the fight the question was Anglo-Saxon supremacy. The question was as stated by Rev. John Durham to Gaston:

"My boy, the future American must be an Anglo-Saxon or a mulatto! We are now deciding which it shall be. The future of the world depends on the future of this Republic. This Republic can have no future if social lines are broken, and its proud citizenship sinks to the level of a mongrel breed of mulattoes. The South must fight this battle to a finish. Two thousand years look down upon the struggle, and two thousand years of the future bend low to catch the message of life or death!"

This was the battle cry in the redemption of the State and the platform on which the fight was made was simple and contained but one plank and gives the views of the author on the negro question briefly and pointedly:

"Whereas, it is impossible to build a State inside a State of two antagonistic races.

"And whereas, the future North Carolina must therefore be an Anglo-Saxon or a mulatto,

"Resolved, That the hour has now come in our history to eliminate the negro from our life and re-establish for all time the government of our fathers."

This is still a live question and we do not believe it is settled. The more we advocate and develop the more intricate the problem becomes.

The hero of Mr. Dixon's book, Charles Gaston, is said to be the present governor of North Carolina.

The book is beautifully written, in good strong English, and is worthy your reading. You will not regret the time you spend in reading it.

REV. J. C. BOYD.

A Sketch of the Life of Another Good Man Gone to Rest His Reward—Died March 29th, at Presley, N. C.

Rev. J. C. Boyd was born in the bounds of Hopewell congregation, Chester county, S. C. This was the church of his fathers, and early in life he professed faith in Christ and was brought up both in the home and in the church to fear God and keep his commandments. The church and the world owe a large debt to old Hopewell for the influence which she has exerted in the splendid characters and useful lives of her sons and daughters.

Mr. Boyd graduated from Erskine College in the class of 1855; and then fell in company with Robert Latham and R. L. Grier, was taken under the care of the First Presbytery at Sardis, N. C. After spending two years in Erskine Theological Seminary he, with his fellow-students, was licensed to preach the "Blessed Gospel of Christ" at Coddle Creek, N. C., in the fall of 1857. The first three months of his ministry were spent at Sardis by order of Presbytery.

In January, 1858, he commenced his labors in Newberry County, supplying the vacancies of Head Spring, Cannon's Creek and Prosperity. At the spring meeting of the Second Presbytery a call was presented from the above mentioned churches and was accepted, and in the fall Mr. Boyd was ordained and installed pastor by Rev. E. E. Pressly, D. D., and Revs. H. T. and A. S. Sloan. It was in Newberry County that his servant of God spent the vigor of his youth and the strength of his life. For more than thirty-two years he went in and out among the people of his first pastorate, preaching the gospel, visiting the sick, comforting the sorrowing, marrying the young, burying the dead, rejoicing in all their joys and afflicted in all their afflictions.

In 1883 Mr. Boyd demitted Cannon's Creek that it might unite with King's Creek in settling a pastor.

In 1890 Father Boyd resigned the charge he had served so long and took work in Ireland, N. C., where he was soon settled as pastor over New Sterling, enjoying the popular theory that all vacancies want young men.

This move was aided by his friends, but the issue has been well the salutary climate has been beneficial to his health, and the move gave him an opportunity to impress his character and life on a new people.

After laboring as pastor of New Sterling for nine years, he resigned in January, 1900, "because" to use his own words, "God taught me, saying: 'Stand aside and rest awhile till I call thee up higher.'"

Mr. Boyd was married three times. In August, 1856, to Miss Elizabeth J. Pressly, daughter of Dr. E. E. Pressly, Rev. J. I. Boner officiating.

In May, 1861, to Miss Margaret Frances McClintock, Laurens County, S. C., Rev. D. H. Haddon uniting them.

On December 13, 1881, to Miss Mary Louvinia Pressly, of York County, S. C., Dr. Robert Latham and Rev. Fleming Taylor performing the ceremony.

Mr. Boyd's ambition was not to be a brilliant, but a soul-saving preacher; hence he was sought after to conduct protracted meetings, and some of his most precious memories are of these when souls were born into the kingdom.

If the recollection of these sowings in the past give sweet thoughts, what will it be to behold the harvest fully gathered and garnered?

General in disposition, charitable in judgment, eloquent as a preacher, fervent in prayer, honored of God and beloved of men, Rev. J. C. Boyd "served his generation by the will of God," and at 1:30 a. m., March 29th, after months, and even years of suffering, he fell asleep. Many will sorrow that they will see his face no more on earth, but all should rejoice that he has exchanged the sufferings of "the seen and temporal" for the glory of the eternal.

"Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord:  that they may rest from their labors, and their works do follow them."

At noon on Sabbath the Sabbath commemorating the resurrection of his Savior, his remains were laid to rest in the cemetery at New Sterling.

"Sown in weakness it will be raised in power, sown in dishonor it will be raised in glory."—Our Young People.

THE WILLIAMSON CASE.

What Judge Gary Said in Sentencing Williamson—A Brutal Affair.

As Mr. Wertz is a native of Newberry County and the case having caused considerable interest here, we publish the following remarks by Judge Gary taken from the Greenwood Index, to give our readers an idea what the crime must have been:

The Williamson case was then called. E. G. Graydon made a motion for a new trial and made his argument. He referred to the law and the facts in the case and then spoke of the bitter feeling against the defendants. Stated that if a new trial was granted he would ask for a change of venue and carry the case to another county. In overruling the motion for a new trial Judge Gary said that he was prepared to admit that there had been much abuse of the characters of the principals in the case. Both sides had indulged in it. The prisoner and Wertz were both held up in an unenviable light. In conclusion he stated that he saw no reason why the verdict of the jury should not stand.

Williamson and the negro, Charley Snow, were then told to stand up. Williamson was asked if he had anything to say why sentence should not be imposed upon him. He answered "Nothing." Judge Gary then said in part: How could you give your consent to inflict on John Wertz such brutal and inhuman treatment? It is revolting in the extreme to think that a citizen living in a christian civilization, in an age of intelligence should be guilty of a deed so horrible and blood curdling in its details. It could hardly be conceived that the vilest savage would be so cruel and so bent on torture.

Oh, would that you had heeded the pleading of that young soldier who begged and pleaded with you not to carry out your purpose, who pictured to you the result to your family and his. You have wrecked him for life and have placed a stigma upon his family. You are yet to be punished for your crime. These remarks are not made to harrow your feelings, but the law requires circuit judges to admonish for their crime those about to be sentenced. I have given this case much thought. To decide upon a sentence that will satisfy the community is a hard question. The sentence is that you are to serve at hard labor in the state penitentiary for a term of five years.

He then asked Charley Snow if he had anything to say. He also answered "Nothing." Judge Gary then said that at first he had taken it that Snow had been controlled by a stronger will than his own, but that according to the testimony he was equally guilty and that he would impose the same sentence upon him.

The attorneys for the defense then gave notice of an appeal. This will be carried to the supreme court, but it will be some time before the case can be heard. Until then Williamson and the negro will have to remain in jail here unless they can give bail in the sum of $5,000.

"A neighbor ran in with a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy when my son was suffering with severe cramps and was given up as beyond hope by my regular physician, who stands high in his profession. After administering three doses of it, my son regained consciousness and recovered entirely within twenty-four hours," says Mrs. Mary Haller, of Mt. Crawford, Va. This Remedy is for sale by W. E. Pelham & Son.

MISS EUPHEMIA MCCLINTOCK.

The Directors Made no Mistake in Electing Her President of the Presbyterian College for Women in Columbia.

Miss Euphemia McClintock has been elected president of the Presbyterian College for Women, in Columbia, to fill the place of Dr. Pell, who has been elected president of Converse College.

Miss McClintock has been connected with the College for six years and has gained great distinction as a teacher. She is a daughter of the Rev. E. P. McClintock, a distinguished minister of the Associate Reformed Presbyterian church, who resides in Newberry. Her maternal grandfather, the Rev. J. N. Young, was professor of mathematics in Erskine College for forty years.

Miss McClintock graduated with the highest honors at the Woman's College, of Baltimore, and afterwards took a post-graduate course at Harvard and then at the University of Chicago. She also spent a summer in Paris.

It is something new for a woman to be chosen for such a responsible and honorable position in South Carolina, but the directors have made no mistake in this instance. We commend them for wisdom and feel assured that Miss McClintock will meet the expectations of her most partial friends.

There never was any reason why a woman should not manage and preside over a woman's college and some of the institutions for young men might be improved if conducted by women.—Abbeville Medium.

A Doctor's Bad Plight.

"Two years ago, as a result of a severe cold, I lost my voice," writes Dr. M. L. Scarborough, of Hebron, Ohio, "then began an obstinate cough. Every remedy known to me as a practicing physician for 35 years, failed, and I daily grew worse. Being urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, I found quick relief, and for last ten days have felt better than for two years." Positively guaranteed for Throat and Lung troubles by all druggists. 50c. and $1.00 bottle. Trial free.

TILLMAN SHUNS INVESTIGATION.

Anxious to Prevent Inquiry into His Charge Against McLaughlin.

Washington, March 27.—Senator Tillman of South Carolina is anxious to prevent the proposed investigation of his charges against his colleague, Senator McLaughlin, in accordance with the terms of Senator Pritchard's resolution, now pending before the committee on Privileges and Elections. Senator McLaughlin wants the investigation and is supported by Senators Hanna and Pritchard. Senator Burrows, chairman of the committee, however, desires to steer clear of an investigation. Tillman's charge was that McLaughlin gave his vote for the ratification of the treaty of peace with Spain in exchange for Federal patronage.

How Senator McLaughlin's vote was obtained was long ago explained by Republican senators, who shortly before the vote on the treaty was taken, February 6, 1899, secured from Senator McLaughlin and McHenry the two votes necessary to form the two-thirds majority. Republican senators said at the time that they had appealed to McLaughlin's patriotism, an appeal which was made effective by the news received that morning of the insurgent attack upon the American line, and by authoritative assurances that the best sentiment in the South would support him in such a cause.—New York Sun.

How To Gain Flesh

Persons have been known to gain a pound a day by taking an ounce of SCOTT'S EMULSION. It is strange, but it often happens.

Somehow the ounce produces its pound; it seems to start the digestive machinery going properly, so that the patient is able to digest and absorb his ordinary food, which he could not do before, and that is the way the gain is made.

A certain amount of flesh is necessary for health; if you have not got it you can get it by taking

Scott's Emulsion

You will find it just as useful in summer as in winter, and if you are thriving upon it don't stop because the weather is warm.
